First Office Action on Merits

Claims 1-10 are pending. No claim is allowed.

The presently claimed invention is drawn to an herbicidal composition comprising an herbicidally acceptable carrier and clove oil.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Art Unit: 1616

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over BESSETTE (WO 00/51436) and TWORKOSKI (Journal reference: "Herbicide Effects of Essential Oils," Weed Science, 50(4): 425-431, 2002).

BESSETTE teaches herbicidal compositions containing plant essential oils and mixtures or blends thereof. See the entire document, especially the abstract, examples, and claims.

TWORKOSKI teaches that clove oil, when applied to a plant, causes severe electrolyte damage and cell death. See the entire document, especially the first paragraph of page 1.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of invention to prepare an herbicidal composition comprising an herbicidally acceptable carrier and clove oil because BESSETTE teaches herbicidal compositions containing plant oils and TWORKOSKI teaches the use of clove oil as an herbicide. This embraces the presently claimed invention; therefore, the instant invention is considered prima facie obvious.

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) might be overcome by: (1) a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not an invention "by another"; (2) a showing of a date of invention for the claimed subject matter of the application which corresponds to subject matter disclosed but not claimed in the reference, prior to the effective U.S. filing date of the reference under 37 CFR 1.131; or (3) an oath or declaration under 37 CFR 1.130 stating that the application and reference are currently owned by the same party and that the inventor named in the application is the prior inventor under 35 U.S.C. 104, together with a terminal disclaimer in accordance with 37 CFR 1.321(c). For applications filed on or after November 29, 1999, this rejection might also be overcome by showing that the subject matter of the reference and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person. See MPEP § 706.02(1)(1) and § 706.02(1)(2).

In the light of the forgoing discussion, the Examiner's ultimate legal conclusion is that the subject matter defined by the instant claims would have been obvious within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 103(a). Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Sabiha Qazi whose telephone number is (571) 272-0622.
